The Humble

ADDRESS

Of the Right Honourable the Lords Spiritual and Temporal,

AND

COMMONS

In PARLIAMENT Aſſembled.

Die Mercurii 28 Novembris, 1705.

WE Your Majeſties moſt Dutiful and Loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in Parliament Aſſembled, being juſtly Alarm'd by the many Artifices which the Emiſſaries of France have put in Practice this laſt Year, in Order to Raiſe Jealouſies, and Create Miſunderſtandings amongſt the Allies Engaged in this Neceſſary War for the Support of the Liberties of Europe; and being Apprehenſive leſt ſuch Malicious Inſinuations, if they ſhould paſs Unobſerv'd, might in time ſo far take place, as to Abate the Spirit, and Slacken the Zeal of the Confederacy, Do moſt humbly Beſeech Your Majeſty to Uſe all poſſible Endeavours to Preſerve a good Correſpondence amongſt all the Confederates, and in a moſt particular manner, to Maintain and Cultivate a Strict Friendſhip with the States General of the United Provinces.

And We moſt humbly Entreat Your Majeſty, that as in Your own way of Acting You have Set before Your Allies a Great and Noble Example, ſo You would be Graciouſly Pleas'd, by all other proper Means, to Excite the whole Confederacy to make Early and Effectual Preparations, and to Exert their utmoſt Vigour in the Proſecution of the War againſt France.

Her MAJESTIES moſt Gracious Anſwer to the Addreſs of both Houſes of Parliament.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

YOUR Joyning in this Addeſs, is a very particular Satisfaction to Me.

The Opinion of both Houſes of Parliament will always be of the greateſt Weight with Me. I ſhall readily Comply with your Deſire; and I make no Queſtion but it will meet with a juſt Regard from all Our Allies.

FINIS.
